No Game This Afternoon.

Manager Wells and his crack Richmond team passed through this morning on their way from Charlotte to Richmond. Mr. Selee, of the Bostons, met him at the station and both thought it best for the Richmonds to go on through as it was very probable that it would rain all the afternoon. Had the Virginians stayed and been unable to play to day they would have had to leave in the morning to keep an engagement in Richmond and with another team. So Greensboro is not to be allowed to see the Richmonds play after all.

Tomorrow afternoon the regular Boston team will play the colts. This game will not be any tame affair but a hotly contested one. The colts are going to show what stuff they are made of. Manager Selee says he can guarantee an interesting game. Hamilton, the champion base runner, came in last night and will show how to circle the bases tomorrow. Admission, 25c. Ladies free. Game called at 3:30 p. m.

The teams will play as follows:

Regulars.		Colts.
Hamilton	center field	Klobedanz.
Tenny	1st base	Bergen.
Long	short stop	Hickman.
Stahl	right field	Sullivan.
Duffy	left field	Willis.
Collins	3rd base	Keister.
Bemis	2nd base	Stivetts.
Bramfield	catcher	Yeager.
Mills	pitcher	Pittinger.

Moses and the Colonel.

Moses I. Stewart and Postmaster Lybrook, of Winston, had a rather lively scrimmage in that city yesterday afternoon. Both being prominent men in the republican ranks, their differences have aroused a good deal of interest.

The encounter is said to have grown out of some articles which have appeared in the Herald, a new republican paper recently started there by colored men. We understand the colonel (Mr. Lybrook) accused Mr. Stewart of writing pieces for the paper, which reflected on him (the colonel.)

GOT A TIP FROM WASHINGTON

Wall Street's Influence on the Side of Peace.

SENATOR RAWLINGS WANTS WAR

And Senator Hanna Is More Hopeful of Peace Now Than He Has Been.

By Wire to THE TELEGRAM.

Washington, March 26—Wall street got a tip out of Washington on the proposed Spanish-American alliance long before the people in the capital knew anything of the plan. Henry Cannon, president of the Chase National bank, of New York, was here Saturday to use his influence on the side of peace. John C. Moore, of Moore and Schley, brokers, also hurried hither from Florida. Other prominent brokers followed and presently Wall street had a tip that sent stocks flying up. The state department says the cipher code must have leaked out. It is known that a cypher code is being made up to prevent any leaks.

"WAR AND PEACE."

By Wire to THE TELEGRAM.

Washington, Mr. 29—Senator Rawlings says: "I am in favor of declaring war against Spain immediately. She knows something about the destruction of the Maine and should be held accountable for it. The first blow we should strike however, should be in the shape of recognition of Cuban independence." Senator Hanna says: "I feel more hopeful of peace than ever."

THE ONLY KEY.

Washington, March 29—Senator Morgan, of the senate foreign relations committee which has the Maine report in charge, said this morning: "The only key to the situation is a declaration of war against Spain. I have made up my mind what to do, but will do nothing until the disposal of the resolution for intervention, which Senator Foraker introduces today."

AN ENGLISH VIEW.

London Paper Says Spain Owes the Most Humble Apologies.

London, March 28—The St. James Gazette, commenting on the report of the United States naval court of inquiry into the loss of the battlship Maine, says:

"There can be no doubt Spain owes a reparation to the American government, to say nothing of the most humble apologies and the most extreme considerations for the feelings of the nation which has lost a fine cruiser lying in peace in a presumably friendly harbor. The outlook is threatening as it could be. Spain is in the wrong and it is for Spain to walk warily."

Morgan's Resolution Adopted.

By Wire to THE TELEGRAM.

Washington, Mar. 29—The senate has adopted Senator Morgan's resolution calling on the president to inform the senate how many Americans were imprisoned in Cuban towns by Weyler's orders, and how much of the money appropriated by congres was necessary to feed the Americans. Senator Mason in a speech declared that he is for war. This declaration caused great applause from the galleries.

Governments Notified by Russia.

By Cable to THE TELEGRAM.

St. Petersberg, Mar. 29—The foreign governments have been officially notified of occupation of Port Arthur and Ta Lieu Wan by Russia, that the latter port is open to foreign trade and the twenty-five year lease of these ports may later be extended. The communications also points out correction of these ports to the trans-Siberian regions, to the Yellow Sea and the whole world.

Washington, March 29—There is a rumored split in the cabinet over the Cuban situation and that Secretary Sherman is the disaffected member.

Foraker's Resolution.

By wire to THE TELEGRAM.

Washington, Mar. 29—Senator Foraker will introduce a resolution in the Senate today to recognize the independence of Cuba.

ALL TRANQUIL AT MADRID.

A Belief that Difficulties Will be Peaceably Settled.

By Cable to THE TELEGRAM.

Madrid, March 29—Complete tranquility prevails here and in the provinces. Public opinion has been quieted by the belief that the difficulties between Spain and the United States will be arranged in a friendly manner and newspapers place great weight upon a conference between Gen. Woodford, United States minister, and Senor Sagasta, Premier, which is to occur at 4 o'clock this afternoon, and the belief is expressed that it will have an important and pacific result.

Spanish newspapers say that the government of Spain has decided to do everything possible to avert war if the honor and dignity of Spain will not be affected.

BRIDE PEEPED AT THE MODEL.

Saw Her Artist Husband at Work and Fainted.

New York, March 28—Philip Greenwald, an artist, has sued Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Soloman for $2,000 for alienating his wife affections. The defendants are Mrs. Greenwald's parents and they took her home after she reported to them that she had peeped through a keyhole into her husband's studio, where he was working with models, and was shocked at the spectacle.

Greenwald had been doing a good business until one of his neighbors peeped through the keyhole, and others followed suit. Mrs. Greenwald was next dragged from the seclusion of her sitting room.

"Look at that!" they cried. She looked and fainted. To make sure her eyes had not deceived her she bored a gimlet hole in the door between the sitting room and the parlor, which was always locked during working hours.

She watched next day for herself, and then, with eyes streaming, rushed to her parents. They came and peeped through the gimlet hole and then told her to pack up her things and come home with them. She has been home ever since.

THE LECTURE LAST NIGHT

At the A. & M. College By Editor of The New York Age.

One among the great men of the colored race, T. Thos. Fortune, editor of the New York Age, lectured at the A. & M. College last night on Thomas Jefferson. The large chapel was filled to its utmost seating capacity despite the admission fee. Superb music was rendered after which President Dudley introduced Editor Fortune in well chosen language.

The lecture was a well arranged and splendid piece of work, though spoken from manuscript. In paying a high tribute to Mr. Jefferson the audience applauded the speaker when he said: "Mr. Jefferson was the founder of a great party that has stood and will stand."

The philosophical expressions in connection with the history of Thomas Jefferson were more notable than the lecturer's oratory.

There were a good many white people present among whom were President McIver and party from the State Normal and Industrial College and Dr. Benbow and others of the city.

THE PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE.

On The Report of The Naval Board of Inquiry.

HE RECOMMENDS DELIBERATION

A Short Recital of The Incidents Leading to and The Destruction of The Maine.

By Wire to THE TELEGRAM.

Washington, Mar. 28—The complete synopsis of President McKinley's message to congress today is as follows:

In its findings the board says the battleship Maine was moored in five and one half or six fathoms of water by the regular government pilot authorities, who were previously notified of her coming. The discipline on the Maine was excellent and everything was in perfect order at the time of the explosion.

In the opinion of the court this effect could have been produced only by the explosion of a mine situated under the bottom of the ship at about frame eighteen somewhere on the port side of the ship.

The president adds that the conclusions of the court are that the loss of the Maine was not in any respect due to fault or negligence on the part of any of the officers or members of the crew. That the ship was destroyed by the explosion of a submarine mine which caused the partial explosion of two or more forward magazines and that no evidence has been obtainable fixing the responsibility for the destruction of the Maine upon any person or persons.

The president says that accordingly a conference with the Spanish minister was held January 24th, and the renewal of visits of our warships in Spanish waters was agreed upon. Peninsular authorities at Madrid and Havana were advised of the purpose of this government to resume friendly naval visits and that the Maine would forthwith call at Havana. This announcement was received by Spain with appreciation of the friendly character of the visit and with notification of her intention to return the courtesy by sending Spanish ships to the principal ports of the United States.

In the meantime the Maine entered Havana harbor the 25th of January, and her arrival was marked with no special incident besides the exchange of customary salutes.

The Maine remained there three weeks and no appreciable excitement attended her stay. A feeling of relief followed the resumption of friendly intercourse. So noticeable was this immediate effect that the presence of our ships in Cuban waters was strongly urged by the consul general.

At 9:40 p. m., on the 15th of February the Maine was destroyed. The forward part of the ship was utterly wrecked by the explosion and 264 of the crew perished. Prompt assistance was rendered by the neighboring vessels in the harbor, aid being especially given by the boats of the Spanish cruiser Alphonso XII and the Ward Line steamer City of Washington, which lay not far distant. The wounded were generously cared for by the authorities in Havana, the hospitals being freely opened to them. Tributes of sympathy were offered from all official quarters of the island.

The appalling calamity fell upon the people of our country with crushing force and in a brief time intense excitement prevailed which, in a community less just and self-controlled than ours, might have led to hasty acts and blind resentment. This spirit, however, soon gave way to calmer reason and resolve to investigate the facts and await material proof before forming judgment as to the cause, responsibility if the facts warranted the remedy due.

This course recommended itself to the executive and the usual proceedure was followed as in all cases of casualty or disaster to national vessels and the maritime naval court was immediately organized and the findings of the court were reached after twenty-three days of continuous labor and it is herewith laid before congress.

The evidence of the divers establishes the fact that the after part of the ship is practically intact. At frame seventeen the outer shell of the ship from a point eleven and a half feet from the middle line of the ship six feet above the keel when in its normal position was forced up so as to be now about four feet above where it would be had the ship sunk to the bottom uninjured.

The outside plate is bent into a reversed V shape the after wing of which, about fifteen feet broad and thirty-two in length is doubled back upon itself against the continuation of the same extending forward.

At frame eighteen the vertical keel was broken in two and the flat keel bent into an angle similar to the angle formed by the outside of the bottom plates. This break is now about six feet below the surface of the water, about thirty feet above its normal position. In the opinion of the court this could only have been caused by an explosion situated under the bottom of the ship.

I have directed that the finding of the court of inquiry and the views of this government thereon be communicated to Her Majesty's government and I do not permit myself to doubt that the sense of justice of the Spanish nation will indicate a course of action suggested by honor and the friendly relations of the two governments.

It will be the duty of the Executive to advise congress of the result, and in the meantime deliberate consideration is invoked.

More Accurate Service in Greensboro Than Baltimore

Mr. C. M. Vanstory had his little girl's eyes examined in Baltimore last year and went with the prescription to one of the largest and best known optical houses there to have the glasses made up. FORTUNATELY one of the lenses got broken recently and was carried to the Greensboro Eye Specialist to be replaced. He saw at a glance that neither lens accorded with the prescription, and so changed them both. Mr. Vanstory sent the old lenses with an explanation to the occulist who had given the prescription and in reply received the following;

STANLEY ON KRUEGER.

Henry M. Stanley, in his new book, entitled "Through South Africa," pays his respects to President Krueger of the Transvaal republic in the following language:

It is evident that English people have wholly failed to understand this man and that their ideal of a "goodish sort of man, kindly and a little old fashioned, a little slow, perhaps, and stubbon after the Dutch type," never existed since Pretoria was founded. On the contrary, the real Krueger is a Boer Machiavelli, astute and bigoted, obstinate as a mule, and remarkably opionionated, vain and puffed up with the power conferred on him, vindictive, covetous and always a Boer, which means a narrow-minded and obtuse provincial of the illiterate type.

This tirade of Mr. Stanley is not likely to raise him in the respect of thoughtful Englishmen and certainly not in the respect of others who are at all versed in the South African politics of the last few years. Readers on this side of the water also well remember that not so many moons have waned since Mr. Stanley undertook to ingratiate himself with the English public by cheap abuse and petty traduction of Americans, howbeit whatever Mr. Stanley is he owes to America. President Krueger may be a stolid and illiterate Boer. But for all that he was found to be more than a match in the sharp test of action for any Englishman in South Africa and in diplomacy for any of the sons of "perfidious Albion," at home, although they had received their training in the universities and courts of Europe. Mr. Stanley, in his efforts to be English, overdoes the matter and succeeds only in being small.

In the pressure of lobby jobbery of all kinds the New York legislature is entitled to some credit for passing the good roads bill which has just become a law through Governor Black's signature. The law provides that of the cost of making good roads 50 per cent. of the expense shall be paid by the state, 25 per cent. by the county and 15 per cent. by the owners of real estate who directly profit by the improvement. The work of construction is to be performed under the supervision of the New York state engineer. Thus one more state passes Pennsylvania in the important work of providing good roads.—Philadelphia Record.

How long will it be before in North Carolina we shall see some effort made to provide public highways that for five months of the year will not be next to impassable? If the thinking patriots who are so anxious to save the state, through some pet political scheme, could be induced to close their mouths for three or four good, long, restful years, and turn their attention to improving the roads there would be such an advance in the material prosperity of the state as has never before marked her history. Good roads, intelligence, prosperity—the three go together.

It appears that Mr. McKinley is about to justify the prediction of his enemies. It is a pertinent instance of the impossibility of a small man rising to a large occasion. It only remains for the administration to establish kindergartens for the training of the more youthful part of the Cuban population and to provide by an emergency appropriation for the payment of the Spanish officers and soldiers in Cuba. If the policy outlined as that of the administration is correct the American flag wherever it floats will become an object of contempt and an invitation to insult and to outrage. If Mr. McKinley had pursued a policy, dignified and virile, Americans would have backed him to a man regardless of party; if he is to pursue a policy of maudlin sentiment and cringing timidity he will do so at his own peril and that of his party. Mr. McKinley has a bare opportunity not to go down in history as the smallest man who has ever occupied the presidential chair.

In his charge to the grand jury of Chatham recently, Judge Robinson said that he did not see why the courts in New York allow Pulitzer, chief of yellow journalism and publisher of the New York World, to run at large. There are several other New York publishers who should be made to eat awhile at government expense.—Progressive Farmer.

The remarks of his honor are pertinent enough, something that cannot always be said of his judicial utterances. Mr. Pulitzer might also be pardoned for enquiring why it is that the good people of North Carolina allow Judge Robinson to run at large; not only that, but the good people of North Carolina themselves wonder why his honor is allowed to continue what even his most faithful friends characterize as a travesty upon the judiciary of the state.

HAVE APES A LANGUAGE?

Results of Prof. Garner's Study of the Speech of the Simians.

He ordered a steel cage made, strong enough to resist or at least to delay the attacks of lions, tigers and other creatures besides the gorrilla until he could shoot them through the meshes of his cage. In construction, this cage was made of No. 9 steel wire in twenty four panels or sections, each section being 3 feet and 3 inches square, furnished with nuts and bolts of the most approved material, so as to be readily joined, and altogether forming a perfectly square cage or steel room, 6 feet 6 inches, which while allowing a man space to stand erect or lie down in comparative comfort, afforded little indeed beyond that. Well, with this simple contrivance he proceeded to West Central Africa, where he finally arrived after travelling through the river and lake region along the Equator. He passed sections of country wherein various tribes of monkeys large and small could have been studied in numbers, but wishing to find the more rare gorrilla or chimpanzee, he selected a spot on Lake Fernan Vaz, where he saw evidence of their habitation, surrounded on all sides by a dense, almost impenetrable jungle, with here and there a small plain, on one of which he placed his cage.

It would indeed be difficult to describe an African jungle, further than to say there is probably no other spot on earth like it. There are really three forests occupying the ground from which if you remove the undergrowth, a forest of giant trees would be left, ranging from 60 to 90 feet in heighth, much resembling those of North America at the advent of the white men. Under this is what is known as the middle growth, trees from 35 to 65 feet in heighth, and which if the large trees were removed, would resemble in density and appearance the humack growth of Florida. If both of these forests were removed, there would still be left an impenitrable jungle of undergrowth ranging from 10 to 20 feet in heighth, crooked, twisted, knotty, gnarled stalks, interlaced with vines of infinite variety.

It was in the heart of such a jungle, far removed from any human habitation that Prof. Garner selected a spot upon which to erect his frail fortress. Driving down nine stakes about two feet high, on the top of which he fastened a frame-work of long poles, he formed the foundation or base for his cage to rest upon, and over the cage he made a roof of palm leaves.

Simplicity and economy of room seems to have entered largely into his arrangements; all ideas of comfort being abandoned and only such articles brought into the cage as would prove absolutely necessary, these consisting of a light hammock lashed to the side, a folding chair, a hanging table and a little oil stove, to which outfit he added an ample supply of canned meats and vegetables, which he supplemented from time to time with such wild meats and vegetables as could be obtained from nature's vast storehouse around him. The last touches to his household arrangements were perfected on the afternoon of May 25th, 1893, when he entered the cage to begin his silent course of observation which was to last 112 days and nights. He was utterly alone, save for the companship of a remarkable chimpanzee by the name of Moses, and the occasional sight of a native wild boy or girl, whose visit would begin and end with a stealthy peep through the meshes of the cage, and a bound for the bush, when seen by the professor.

Moses, strange to say, did not share in a part of the cage, but slept in a neat little house nearby, affording him every liberty to go and come, and explore the jungle at will. He showed no disposition to leave and on state occasions would come in and dine with the professor, who says in this connection, that while the table manners of his guest were not all they might have been they were not worse than those he has seen of some children at hotel tables.

In his daily life no more valuable study could have been had than was furnished by this intelligent ape companion, and in the constant, uninterrupted intercourse and observation a perfect mutual understanding gradually developed between them, until they might have been said to actually converse. The professor states that there were some twelve words or sounds used by the ape so frequently and under the same conditions, that he learned them and their meaning just as well as he had learned any twelve words in the many foreign languages fluently spoken by him; that when he himself employed or used these words of Moses the latter understood and responded to them exactly as a native of Africa would have done, whose language was partially understood by another. Prof. Garner, in speaking further of Moses, says few can appreciate the love and mutual dependence that grows between a man and an animal living under the peculiar circumstances in which he and this ape were placed. In that deep and voiceless solitude with no companion but this little ape, the mutual desire and efforts to be understood, became more earnest each day.

Something to Depend On.

Mr. James Jones, of the drug firm of Jones & Son, Cowden, Ill., in speaking of Dr. King's New Discouery, says that last winter his wife was attacked with la grippe, and her case grew so serious that physicians at Cowden and Pana could do nothing for her. It seemed to develop into hasty consumption. Having Dr. King's New Discovery in store, and selling lots of it, he took a bottle home, and to the surprise of all she began to get better from first dose, and half dozen dollar bottles cured her sound and well. Dr. King's New Discovery for consumption, coughs and colds is guaranteed to do this good work. Try it. Free trial bottles at C. E. Holton's drug store.

QUART BOTTLES.

This great blood purifier and nerve tonic, cures diseases by removing from the system, the conditions which produce them. It expels all poison and impurity from the blood. It acts upon the nerves as a stimulant, particularly upon those nerves belonging to the great organs of the body; therefore, it causes the heart to beat with greater force, the lungs to take in more oxygen and to expel more carbonic acid; it induces the kidneys to send off more of the poisonous excretions from the blood; the bowels to have more regularity and healthfulness in their action; the sweat glands to throw out more impurities.

Our illustrated book of 36 pages will tell you what is the matter and what to do. Its free for the asking. Quart bottle, $1.00.

Guilford College Notes.

Correspondence Telegram.

Guilford College, Mar. 29—Prof. P. P. Claxton, of the State Normal, delivered a lecture here Saturday night on "Education in Germany." It was very interesting and instructive. North Carolina was shown to be far behind the small German states in education. These German states have comparatively few natural resources but yet raise thousands of dollars for education by local taxation. The audience formed a very good opinion of the educational system in Germany from facts presented.

F. H. Fries, of Winston, will deliver a lecture on the "Monetary Commission" here sometime in April, exact date will be given later. Mr. Fries was a delegate to the monetary convention which met in Indianapolis early in last year.

The Guilford College baseball team played its first game of the season last Saturday with the William Bingham High School at Mebane. The Guilford boys played a pretty game, easily winning by a score of 13 to 4. The college is very proud of the showing of her team. The batteries were: Guilford, Petty and English; Bingham, Mangum, Farrell and Oldham.

The team has arranged the following games:

Trinity College, at Durham, April 2-4.

A. and M. College, at Greensboro, April 11th.

Oak Ridge, at Guilford, April 16th.

Roanoke College, Virginia, at Greensboro, April 23d.

Alumni of Guilford College, at Guilford, commencement.

Other games will be arranged later.

Summer Homes' Folder, 1898.

W. A. Turk, general passenger agent of the Southern railway, is collating information for Summer Homes' Folder for the ensuing summer, giving the names of proprietors, post office addresses, at or near what station, conveyance used, number of guests, term per day, week and month. This information will be printed in an attractive form and a large edition published and distributed by the various agents of this immense system throughout all sections of the country. Persons contemplating taking boarders for the ensuing summer are requested to apply to the nearest railroad agent for blank to be filled out giving the above information, and forward at once to W. A. Turk, General Passenger Agent, Washington, D. C., so that it may reach him not later than the 1st of April. 24-1w

The True Remedy.

W. M. Repine, editor Tiskilwa, Ill., "Chief," says: "We won't keep house without Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, coughs and colds. Experimented with many others, but never got the true remedy until we used Dr. King's New Discovery. No other remedy can take its place in our home as in it we have a certain and sure cure for coughs, colds, whooping cough, etc." It is idle to experiment with other remedies, even if they are urged on you as just as good as Dr. King's New Discovery. They are not as good, because this remedy has a secord of cures and besides is guaranteed. It never fails to satisfy. Trial bottles free at C. E. Holton's drug rtore.

A Gifted Commedian.

The gifted commedian, Edwin Travers and an admirable company of commedians will be seen at the Academy of Music on next Thursday night for one performance only, in that famous masterpiece from the pen of William Gilette, The Private Secretary. For over sixteen years this play has successfully withstood the test of time and today is as popular as it was when first produced, nearly a quarter of a century ago. That it is the cleanest, as well as the funniest comedy ever written, even its rivals admit. All attempts on the part of modern playwrights to produce its equal have proven in vain, so far and the Private Secretary retains today what it gained years ago, the enviable reputation of being the funniest comedy ever written. Its author, Mr. Gilette, is the most successful playwright of the present day, having recently added laurels to his fame by writing the great New York and London success, Secret Service. The Private Secretary is to comedy what Secret Service is to war dramas—the best. The company which will present the Private Secretary here, is headed by the favorite commedian, Edwin Travers, which is guarantee sufficient that the performance will prove to be excellent in every particular. This company was seen here last season and the most delighted audience that ever left the theatre witnessed the performance.

Cattle Industry in North Carolina.

The showing, in another item, of the cattle industry of this country does not apply with equal force everywhere. In North Carolina, we learn from same source, but in another report, the falling off in numbers is not so great. The figures from 1895-8, inclusive, are:

1895	653,528
1896	635,621
1897	631,530
1898	608,872

Decrease in four years.....44,656

Or 6⅞ per cent. May it not appear, when our stock men investigate this question, that the loss in numbers is much more than made up in quality? And if the quality is improved can it not be still further improved? What about it?—Progressive Farmer.

The Kaiser's Ancestral Mania.

Bremerhaven, March 28—During a trip on the steamer Kaiser Wilhelm der Grosse a banquet was served, at which the president of the North German Lloyd company offered a toast to Emperor William. The latter replied, dwelling on his own effort for peace and the debt due his grandfather, "who, by the devotion of his whole energy, had converted the German army into strong bulwark, which had preserved peace up today." The Emperor concluded by proposing a toast to the "North German-Lloyd and the good old town of Bremen."

Oak Ridge Defeated.

The Oak Ridge ball team, which passed through here yesterday for a week's trip in Virginia, played a brillant ten inning game with the Danville Military Institute yesterday—and lost. The game was fast and clever and but for errors in the eighth inning the North Carolina boys would have won.

Barker pitched an excellent game and received good support throughout the entire game, with the exception of the eighth.

For the visitors Smith and Bennet did the best work.

Today Oak Ridge plays Randolph-Macon Academy at Bedford City. The following is the score by innings:

D. M. I.....2 0 0 0 0 0 0 2 0 1—5
O. R. I.....0 1 2 0 0 0 0 1 0 0—4

The following is a synopsis of the the entertainment to be given by the ninth grade at 8:30 o'clock in the Graded School hall Thursday night of this week. Don't miss it. You will be well entertained for an hour. The staging and costumes add much to the play.

It is given by Miss Hampton and the ninth grade to pay for calcimining and painting their class room.

How the Women of Hades take a sail in the House Boat on the Styx. The house boat is taken possession of by Queen Elizabeth, Ophelia and Xanthippe who "ring up" the other ladies of Hades and the Ladies' Club of Associated Shades is organized with Cleopatra for president.

A judicious use of their fans cools the atmosphere, after which the thirsty souls fly to the enjoyment of the hitherto forbidden pleasures of the House Boat.

All too soon these delights are interrupted by Captain Kidd, who to his dismay, finds that he has captured "a female seminary of advanced woman." He and his mates plan to beguile these women to Paris and there forsake them, but, fortunately, Cassandra, "the original I told you so," sees that Captain Kidd, in telling the ladies of his plan, is "drawing wholly upon his imagination."

Cleopatra, however, is wise enough to outwit him, and Kidd and his mates are sent ashore for provisions, while the women sailed away.

Mrs. Noah is put in command and, after starting the boat backwards, assigns to each member of the club certain household duties.

When 10 o'clock comes she has them called from their work to bid her good night. They retire singing: "Good night, Granny, we're going to bed right now."

Being tired and not so young as she once was, Mrs. Noah follows "the children." and "the play is played."

Could Not Capture Richmond.

History repeated itself yesterday in baseball. The first efforts of the Boston ball players to capture a game from Richmond secured the same result that similar efforts of the New Englanders away back in the 60's secured when they tried to capture the city of Richmond. The game yesterday was hotly contested and fiercely fought from first to last, and, like the other struggle, the end did not come as quick as it was at first thought it would. The Beaneaters went to Charlotte yesterday expecting an easy victory, but the same old fighting and never-give-up spirit of the Virginians was shown and the Bostons returned without a victory.

It was a beautiful game, however, and was full of interest and excitement all the way through. It was anybody's game until the fourteenth inning when the Richmonds bunched their hits and made three runs and clinched the game.

The score was Richmond 4, Boston 1.

Who Compose the Party.

The Herald, a new republican paper published in Winston by colored men, says:

The colored people of the nation, Winston included, must remember that the grand old fabric of the republican party is not invested in recent converts or a few white office seekers, but that they are the foundation, backbone and sinews of the same, especially in the south.

A student plied a college professor with a series of questions to each of which the professor laconically replied "I don't know."

"Why," finally said the student, "I thought we were sent here for you to tell us what we don't know."

"Young man," replied the professor you are sent here for us to tell you what we know, and that is soon done. To tell you what you don't know would be an endless undertaking.
